DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1 and 5-8 are allowed over the prior art.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record does not teach or render obvious the combination, cooperation and interaction that applicant claimed an electrical card connector comprising an electronic card having a recess on one side thereof, an insulative housing having a receptacle portion for receiving the card and first and second switch contacts secured in the housing, a shell shielding the housing, wherein the first and second switch contacts respectively comprises first and second contact portions and first and second holding portions, the shell having a top wall and a T-shaped pad extending downwardly and perpendicularly from one side of the top wall, the pad comprises two upper opposite contact ends for engaging with the first and second switch contact portions, and a notch at a lower portion of the pad for engaging with a latch formed in the housing, and wherein the card is partially inserted into the receptacle portion, the first contact portion mechanically and electrically engaged with one of the contact ends of the pad, and when the card is fully inserted into the receptacle portion, the second contact portion mechanically and electrically engaged with the other one of the contact ends of the pad while the first contact portion received in the recess of the card without engaging with the shell, as recited with other limitations in the independent claim 1.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Nogami (US 6,394,827), Chang (US 6,478,591) and Chang et al. (US 6,394,843) show the alternate designs of electrical card connectors comprising a shell shielding an insulative housing, switch contacts and ejectors.
